Health Map and Expressiveness, even Political Speech Level of Efficacy

By Shomit Sirohi

The simple manner of making a health map, on expressions and political speech formats is just to trace a simple line and graph in the sense of patterns which are complex and simple at the same time.

The upward progression then has a lower progression and a few middle progressions.

Such a graph reads as the mean is depressing for the recent phase and happy for the very recent soon phase. It will be very high in a few days.

Expression is a simple high but it goes perfectly high right after.

II. Predicting and Doing Praxis for it

Judging praxis speaking, spontaneity and crisis. How the correct discourse is finally established to be say political speaking – its efficacy is at a normal low height and goes high that way it says. This is because of a capitalist problem. Without it, it peaks in speculative ways.

III. How to Assess if not a Prophecy

One assesses that one is talking a lot, but not really working, or truly talking. It means either would aid it.

IV. Guide

The best guide in standard physician is to go a bit like a person who is really Matthew Miraculous. More standard is to say, just work into a stylish behaviour. He would say, in fact a period of crisis is a developing crisis or a movement to the lot of decisions how to free oneself, which then is free when there is a concrete miracle, which is simply to be progressive, which then proves a thesis, that the movement of bodies and concanctentions of speech developments are finally pure movements of graceful bodies, which then articulates with the above structure and becomes in fact the movement of a Parsi image – of people raising their level of abstraction to in fact a height, and this then is Wittgenstein.

I mean then in daily life behave this way. Always be a bit conceptual.